What a contrast is presented at this time between the democratic and republican parties! The democratic leaders who are spoken of, whatever their fitness or differences on public questions, stand before the country unassailable by the opposition as honorable men worthy of trust. From Maine to California Mr. Tilden bears the enviable reputation of being the ablest and most sincere reform Statesman now living. Every democrat admits his worth and only his physical condition and personal wishes prevent his unanimous nomination and his assured election. Gen. Hancock has been spoken of by some. No word has ever been uttered against his reputation by friend or foe. Senator Payne has warm advocates. Democrats and republicans concede his purity and ability. Judge Hooley has been suggested. He has just been strongly indorsed by the democrats of his own State and all over the Union his high character and capacity are conceded. Governor Cleveland has personal advocates. Is a word spoken against his integrity? Ex-Senator McDonald, ex-Speaker Randall, Bayard, Hewitt, Holman and others have been suggested for the democratic nomination and there is not among them a name which is not conceded to belong to a man of personal honor and honesty. How is it with the republicans? They are busily engaged in exposing the records and besmirching the characters of their own leading candidates for the nomination! Their proposed Bloody Shirt campaign has been changed to a Dirty Shirt campaign. They are washing their soiled linen in public before the eyes and under the offended noses of a disgusted people. Look at the portrait of President Arthur as painted by ex-Attorney-General Wayne Mac Veagh, ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James, ex-Congressman General Adams and the Republican Times. Examine the certificates of character given to him by the Evening Post and Times and to Senator Edmunds by William Walter Phelps and the Republican Tribune. The effort of the republican party in its factional jealousy, its hatreds and its greed for spoils seems to be to prove that its most prominent men are venal and all its leading Presidential aspirants unworthy of public trust. Well, perhaps the party organs are right.—[N. Y. World.]

The Seventeen Year Locust.
This is "seventeen year locust" season in Virginia. According to the Prairie Farmer considerable alarm is felt in some quarters at the announcement. It is a blessing to the country that these voracious fellows are by nature prevented from making a raid all over the country the same year. The history of this insect is curious and interesting. The eggs are deposited in small slits made by the female in the branches of trees. In a short time the eggs hatch, and the young larvae follow down the branches to the trunk, down this to the roots, along the roots to their tips, where they fasten themselves by their beak, through which they draw sustenance. They also attach themselves to other succulent roots. Here they remain for nearly their entire existence of almost seventeen years without other change than a gradual increase in size. They come nearer the surface as the period of transformation approaches. They make cylindrical holes some half an inch in diameter, which they carefully cement and varnish, so as to be impervious to water. In this they remain for several days. They finally issue from the ground, crawl up a tree or stump, take a rest and cast their skin. They come out in the evening, and by morning the insect is ready for flight. They seem to prefer the oak to other trees, but will take up with many others, having rather a liking for the apple tree. They usually appear in the latter part of May, and disappear in about six or seven weeks.

A Sheet Iron Hen.
An ingenious fellow in Ohio has constructed a sheet iron hen that promises to lay him a golden egg. It is finished up to life, full size, cackles, clucks and looks with one eye at a time so naturally that it will deceive the oldest hen hawk in the country. It is so arranged that when a hawk, mink or polecat pounces on it the back springs open and the wings fly up and force the assailant on to a ravenous buzz that makes 1,700 revolutions per minute. After moving half a minute the saw stops, the hen closes up, folds its wings and begins to cackle as though it had just laid an egg. One winding up will answer for three massacres, provided the rather delicate machinery doesn't get clogged up too much with blood, bones and feathers. He set a freshly painted one out in the sun to dry the other day, which attracted the attention of a fine old cat belonging to a doctor who had been poking a great deal of fun at the fool thing. The hen is there, but the cat is hence.

A golden rule for a young lady is to converse always with your female friends as if a gentleman were of the party, and with young men as if your female companions were present.

LATEST NEWS.

Minor Killed.
(Special to the Interior Journal.)
MT. VERNON, May 26.—Ed. Quinn was killed by falling slate in the mines at Livingston, to-day. J. B. F.

Pittsburg, May 26.—The Penn Bank has again closed its doors. The second crash was brought about by the Clearing-house throwing out checks amounting to $265,000.

At 11 o'clock last night, deputy sheriff Johnson and Constable Ellerson delivered to the jailer here Jim Wilson and Jeff Wells, who had been held for robbing the store kept by Rev. John L. McMullins, at O. K. Proof seems to be against Wilson, in whose possession the missing goods were found.

Brown's Mistake.
Dwight Brown, living near Erie, Pa., is poor but very devout man. Mr. Brown being in destitute circumstances, knelt down with his wife and the two prayed for help from on high. On the following day as Mr. Brown was walking along the highway, he found a "wallet" containing $200 in greenbacks. Just ahead of him was John Crowell, whom the prisoner must have known had dropped it, but Brown, believing this to be an answer to the earnest supplications of himself and wife, took the money home and there was great rejoicing in the family, followed by full meals for his wife and children. The next day clothing for the half naked family was purchased, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown earnestly believed they had found the royal road to wealth. But a little later an officer came with a warrant and arrested the head of the household on a charge of larceny. At the trial a frank statement of the whole case was made by the lawyer who kindly offered to defend Brown. He recited the ignorance of the prisoner, which was accompanied with a devout belief that God had answered his prayers in the manner described. Some of the money had been spent as described, but the rest had been turned over to Crowell, and besides this, all the household effects of the poor man had been put in the hands of the officers to be sold to make up the deficiency. The Judge in passing sentence, said he understood the prisoner to be a hard-working man, and that the temptation had come to him in a peculiar manner. He would err, if at all on the side of justice, and so he sentenced Brown to pay a fine of one dollar and to be confined in jail one day. The case is a peculiar one, and excited a good deal of interest.

OBITUARY.
On Friday morning, May 23, 1884, of pneumonia, the spirit of Mrs. Patience Owsley Boone took its flight for a better and purer world.

Sister Boone was born October 22, 1828, and married quite young to Mr. George G. Boone, who still survives her. She became a member of the Christian church early in life, was earnest in her profession, loving to visit the house of God and engage in worship, often going there when hardly able to sit up, so poor was her health the greater part of her life.

In all the relations of life she was lovely in spirit and action. As a wife and mother she was ever genial, pure and true. In her death the orphan and stranger have lost a true friend. None ever went to her for aid without their appeal being responded to.

But her work is done—we trust well done. May her mantle (not of sickness and sorrow) fall upon her children; may they imitate her virtues. A genuine feeling of sympathy goes out to him whose companion she was for more than 40 years and who so keenly feels the irreparable loss. During her short illness the intensity of pain was unabated, but not a murmur escaped her lips—always grateful to her friends who ministered to her wants. All that medical science could suggest was brought to bear for her relief, but the Master called and she was taken to His home on high. To the stricken husband, son and daughter we offer our holiest sympathies and commit them to the Lord, whom she loved to serve, knowing that He alone can comfort and sustain them.

She is gone, we should not mourn,
Gone to wear a crown of gold—
Gone where there is always Summer,
Sheltered in the Saviour's fold.

THE SWEET HAND PAINTED BONNET.—The agony of agonies this season which most attracts the attention of the ladies fair, is the hand-painted bonnet. Hours of intense thought and quarts of the best paint are wasted in an endeavor to imitate the flower of the field or plumage of birds, with varying success. Once in a while a bonnet is painted that is "perfectly awfully lovely," and then again a bonnet is taken from the easel looking very much as if it had accidentally rolled across the fair artist's palette. We saw one the other day that resembled a pan of sour milk after a thunder storm, in delicate shading. It is largely a matter of artistic culture whether the bonnet be a success or not.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.
—Mrs. Andrew Adams received a fall Friday by which she had her arm fractured.
—Mrs. Charley Nield will deliver a temperance lecture at the Christian church Friday evening.

—The members of the Presbyterian congregation will give a sociable in the basement of their church Thursday evening.
—A number of the K. C. R. R. official spent the day in town Monday, getting acquainted with their patrons. They took dinner with H. A. B. Marksberry.

—R. S. Haselden has concluded to build a two story brick store room where his old house stands, near the Court House. Joe Haselden bought his brother's place in the North-western corner of Public Square for $3,500.

—The tobacco growers in this county are disappointed in not raising enough plants to set out the land broken up for that purpose. The seeds sown were inferior, in consequence of which a small number of plants came up.

—Monday was County Court day here. A small crowd was present and very little stock was on the market. Lightning rod and machine agents ruled the day. Mr. I. M. Dunn sold 30 head of cattle at from $24 to $25 per head. No mules were on the market.

—Geo. F. Burdett died at the home of Tom Moore, in this county, Friday, and was buried at Fork Church. He is the last of the old set of Burdetts who have resided in this county for years. He died in his 76th year.

—Master Commissioner, H. C. Kaufman sold publicly, Monday, the Margaret Kennedy tract of land consisting of 180 acres of land near Dripping Springs, in this county, to Seph Conn at $290 per acre. On this land is an old salt well opened in 1797 which produces large quantities of "Crab Orchard Salts," and is the only one not under control of the C. O. Salt Co.

—We were pleased to see young Mr. Eddie Walton upon our streets Monday acting in the capacity of your agent. We wish him success. Miss Mollie Johnson and Snack Lee came up from Danville Saturday to spend the evening with the young ladies visiting at Judge Owsleys. Miss Kate Brown, of London, Ky., has accepted a position as clerk in the Internal Revenue Collector's office at this place. Col. Landrum has now two young ladies on his staff.

—The North-eastern part of our suburb is composed almost entirely of negro cabins which have been designated "Logan Town." This has always been the rendezvous of negroes and loose characters whose names are very familiar to the police authorities, and every week a large number are tried for disorderly conduct. Last Saturday night a few drunken negroes got into a fuss on "Battle Row," and during the disturbance some one in the crowd fired four or five shots with a pistol, two shots of which took effect in Sam McKee's, col. leg and one in John McPherson's, col. forehead and one grazed another negro's leg. All were flesh wounds. It is thought that Zeke Reid did the shooting but none of the wounded will inform the authorities. Zeke skipped out and his whereabouts are not known.

Our State contemporaries will no doubt confer a favor on an unfortunate class by noting the fact that the branch institution for colored deaf mute children will be opened at this place next fall. Intelligent children between the ages of ten and thirty-one years will be received and furnished board and tuition by the State without any charge—parents only being required to furnish clothing and traveling expenses, as in the case of white children. This colored branch will be under the supervision of the excellent Superintendent and Board of Commissioners who have so successfully managed the institution for white children in our midst. Of course in their education and training the two races will be kept forever separate. This is expressly provided by law, and in both letter and spirit, will be carried out by the management of the institution.—[Danville Advocate.]

—Manlius J. Smith, son of D. Howard Smith, formerly State Auditor, dropped dead at his home in Louisville.

Keep pushing 'tis wiser than sitting aside,
And sighing and watching and waiting the tide;
In life's earnest battle they only prevail,
Who daily march onward and never say fail.

W. P. WALTON.

JOAQUIN MILLER sizes Grant up about right in a recent letter. He is not of those who are blubbering over with useless sympathy for him. With all his glorious opportunities and the wealth lavished upon him, what has this pet of the world given in return? Not a single sentence worth repeating, not a single act worthy of emulation, or of remembrance is credited to him in twenty years of indolence and luxury. "Never on earth had man such an advantage, or for half such a period of time. He chose to waste it entirely, and finally sold his great name for money which has slipped through his indolent and incapable hands. Mr. sympathy is entirely with those who have been betrayed and defrauded by the use of the great name and honors which the noble American people so generously gave him. As to whether or not he knew of what was going on, that is not important to the verdict which time must ultimately cast against him. If he did not know he should have known. His renown depends solely on having put to the sword successfully great numbers of fellow creatures. A most ordinary man, a saw dust doll, deified in this pastoral land of peace, where the professional soldier with his trade of war should be made to stand far down; next, indeed, to the line of brutes where he belongs." This is pretty rough on the General, but every word is literally true. No one can glance at his history and come to any other conclusion than that he is the most arrant of humbugs the world ever produced.

In another column we give a letter which has been addressed by Mr. W. H. Miller to each member of the County Court, asking that honorable body for an appropriation of $200, to aid in making an exhibit of Lincoln County's vast resources and productions at the approaching exposition at Louisville. We trust there will be no hesitation in giving the amount. It will be an investment that will repay many fold in bringing our county, one of the very richest and most prosperous in the State, to the attention of those desiring homes or investment in lands capable of producing in abundance every variety of farm products suitable to the climate. The Exposition will be a grand affair. Let us contribute our quota to its assured success and at the same time benefit ourselves.

HARGIS' power is indeed waning when his bitter enemy, Judge Riddell, can carry his (H's) county, Nicholas, and get its unqualified instruction. The victory of Riddell is more apparent when it is known that Hargis has said that he will vote for and stump the district for a republican if Riddell is nominated by the democracy. There are forty counties in the district and at the primaries Saturday, Col. Laban Moore lead for Appellate Judge in the counties heard from, having carried Mason, Boyd, Carter, Lawrence, Johnson and Pike. Riddell was a good second, however, and bore the honors off in Montgomery, notwithstanding Col. Stone's charge, Fleming, Nicholas and got second instructions in several other counties, including Rockcastle, which gave first to Scott. The chances are strongly in favor of Riddell as the nominee.

Under the new Congressional apportionment the Electoral vote this year will be as follows: Alabama 10, Arkansas 7, California 8, Colorado 3, Connecticut 6, Delaware 3, Florida 4, Georgia 12, Illinois 22, Indiana 12, Iowa 13, Kansas 9, Kentucky 13, Louisiana 8, Maine 6, Maryland 8, Massachusetts 14, Michigan 13, Minnesota 7, Mississippi 9, Missouri 16, Nebraska 5, Nevada 3, New Hampshire 4, New Jersey 9, New York 35, North Carolina 11, Ohio 23, Oregon 3, Pennsylvania 30, Rhode Island 4, South Carolina 9, Tennessee 12, Texas 13, Vermont 4, Virginia 12, West Virginia 6, Wisconsin 11, Total 401.

THE Frankfort representative of the Courier Journal, no doubt upon the authority of Judge Hargis, whom he does not name further than to say that he is "the best informed man in that part of the State," publishes the charge that Judge Riddell and others were concerned with Cornillon in the disgrace and death of Judge Reid. This is a serious charge, indeed, and Judge Riddell owes it to himself and his constituency to demand the author and refute it if he can. It was bad enough to have for chief justice of the State, a man who was charged with perjury. It will be worse to elect a man who will succeed to that office who aided and abetted a murder.

TOM TURNER, who let us pray will always be an ex-Congressman, is shown up in a very bad light. In March last he wrote a letter to a friend in which he abused Judge Reid unparaphrasing and spoke of him as "cold, selfish and mean and unable to carry his own county over a decent republican." At the funeral, however, he occupied the front row of mourners and wore more crepe on his arm than anybody. A haughty individual is the most contemptible creature that creeps the earth and in this role Mr. Turner is deserving the execrations of every man who scorns an underhanded act.

JUDGE W. S. HOLMAN, whom the New York Sun so vigorously boomed for the presidency some time ago and then dropped him like a hot potato, was nominated for his eleventh term in Congress as representative of the Fourth Indiana District on the first ballot. The nomination is equivalent to an election and Mr. Holman will go back to Washington to enter his usual "I object" to any and every raid upon the treasury.

YOUR Uncle Samuel J. Tilden is just as sure to be nominated for President of these United States as the convention assembled at Chicago. That he is the first choice of the people, there is hardly a doubt. His qualifications for the office are unequalled, and as the New York Sun truthfully says, the people want him for that and because he represents and embodies those ideas of reform which they feel to be necessary to the safety and welfare of the country. They want him because his inauguration would begin a new era in our political affairs, the restoration of sound principles and honest, practical administration in every department of the government. With Tilden at the head of the ticket, victory is sure and a realization of the above hopes are assured.

THE Semi-Weekly Messenger, published at Owensboro, by Messrs. C. W. Bransford and Urey Woodson, is the largest and handsomest of the kind in the State. It is well edited and its advertising patronage shows that it is in most prosperous condition. We shall be glad to "swap" with it.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—H. B. Blanchard, coffee merchant, Richmond, Va., has failed. Liabilities $223,000.

—The entire delegation from Nebraska to the Democratic National Convention is for the old ticket.

—James R. Keene will settle with his creditors by giving notes payable in twelve and eighteen months.

—Mr. Blaine says: "I do not know that I will be nominated, but I do know that Mr. Arthur will not be."

—Bill English's son Bill won the Indiana contested seat in Congress against Peele, the sitting member.

—Carrie Best, the young widow of Stewart Best, is in custody at Nicholasville, charged with poisoning her husband.

—The French brig Senorine went ashore off the New York coast Friday night and 53 passengers and 9 of the crew were lost.

—Chas. A. Hinckley, paying teller of the West Side Bank, New York, embezzled $96,000 of the bank's funds and decamped.

—The next meeting of the Knights Templar will be at Frankfort. H. G. Sandifer, of Danville, was elected E. G. General.

—Tammany Hall has declared for Tilden and tariff reform. The New York State Convention has been fixed for June 18th, at Saratoga.

—The steamer Castalia, of Palermo, grounded off the coast of Spain and her cargo and 70 passengers, mostly Coolies, were drowned.

—The Mt. Sterling jail was searched on Saturday by the sheriff and three loaded revolvers were found in the possession of the prisoners.

—The secretary of the treasury wants an additional appropriation of $160,000 for salaries and expenses in the internal revenue department.

—James D. Fish, ex-president of the Marine Bank of New York, has been arrested for fraud connected with the operations of Grant & Ward.

—The six-year old daughter of William Dyke, living near Hillsdale, Mich., was outraged and then murdered, by crushing her skull with a stone.

—Two express trains collided at Savannah, N. Y., and two coaches were entirely demolished. Four men were killed and several badly wounded.

—Lightning struck a large tank of oil at the Atlantic Refining Co.'s works in Pennsylvania and destroyed oil and other property to the amount of $200,000.

—The immediate damage by the Texas floods is placed at $2,000,000, and the ultimate loss, including injury to crops, it is anticipated, will be $5,000,000.

—The Danville, Va., municipal election passed off quietly. Mayor Johnson was hanged in effigy at night on account of his recent unnecessary call for troops.

—Hon. Phil B. Thompson failed in his effort to get up his Pacific Railroad bill to amend the Thurmond sinking fund act. The vote stood—yeas 76; nays 130.

—Mr. Wm. M. Hunter, second assistant secretary of State, has entered on the fifty-fifth year of his service in that department. Evidently few die and none resign.

—At Des Moines Geo. F. Hall obtained a verdict of $1,800 against the W. U. Telegraph Co. for incorrect transmission of a message, whereby he lost that much in an oil deal.

—Col. Wm. Spence, formerly United States Marshal, who killed his son in law, Col. Wheat, his successor, March 19, was sentenced to be hanged on July 18, next at Nashville.

—Timothy Low attempted to outrage two young girls at North Andover, Mass., but failing in his purpose, he choked the elder one to death and probably fatally injured the other one.

—The Labor Bureau bill passed the Senate. It is a substitute for the House bill, with most of the practicable features eliminated, and will be shelved when returned to the House, as it should be.

—Senator Hill has completed the report of the committee on the subject of the postal telegraph. The report discourages the proposition to secure the control of the Western Union Telegraph lines.

—The latest figuring of the Arthur men in regard to the result at Chicago gives the President 375 votes certain, probable 81, grand total 456. The Blaine men must get up a new computation and they ought to be pretty quick about it.

—Ferdinand Ward, of the late firm of Grant & Ward, failing to give the required $300,000 bail, was lodged in the Ludlow street jail, New York. The room in which he is confined is the one in which Tweed died on April 12, six years ago. Ward's incarceration was hastened by the representation of certain counsel to the grand jury, in order to make any attempt at escape impossible.

—The heaviest rains on record have fallen in Louisiana during the past ten days.

—A lot of carrier pigeons liberated at Lynnhurg on Saturday arrived at their home Keyport, N. J., 338 miles distant, in seven hours.

—R. A. Pulliam, of Harrodsburg, was given ten years in the penitentiary for the killing of Ki Hawkins. There were six others sent at the same term.

—Friday was another good day for the hangman. Four murderers were dispatched in as many points of the U. S., one of whom claimed to be a preacher.

—Mary Jane Caffrey, a pretty little Irish girl was married at Trenton, N. J., on Saturday, to a New York lawyer who had fallen in love with her on the street.

—President Adam Brabender, who admits that he and the cashier of the Erie (Pa.) Savings Bank lost $100,000 in speculation, is in jail. The stockholders will lose from $200,000 to $250,000.

—Mrs. Edmont, of St. Louis, while in sane, cut the throats of her two babies killing them instantly, wounded another slightly, and attempted suicide, and is now lying in a very critical condition.

—Jubal Early does not approve of the acceptance of a Confederate soldier's home at Richmond from Northern charity. He thinks that Mahone, like other dogs, has had his day, and that Bayard is the best democratic presidential name.

—The State Pharmaceutical Association elected Mr. Jefferson Oxley, of Nicholasville President; J. J. Brooks, Richmond, Treasurer and J. T. Cook, of Harrodsburg, Secretary. Executive Committee—C. L. Diehl, Chairman; E. Sheffer and H. Batheang.

—The negro Benjamin Johnson, who assisted Ingalls in the murder of the colored family for the purpose of selling their bodies, has been convicted of murder in the first degree. Ingalls, it will be remembered, hung himself in jail. The law will now perform a like operation for his guilty partner.

—The bill introduced in the Senate by Hawley, to provide for the payment of female nurses who served during the late civil war, provides that all such nurses shall be paid such sums of money as will bring up the amount of compensation paid to them to $85 per month for the time which they were employed as nurses.

—The Democratic National Convention will have 13 delegates less than the Republican Convention, no representatives from the Territories being admitted to the former. It will need 535 votes to nominate a democratic presidential candidate, as the two thirds rule prevails in its conventions. About 300 of the 802 delegates have now been elected.

—Ben Butler's letter of acceptance for president of the anti-monopoly party is now before the world, in which he says if the votes of the electors shall intrust me with the executive powers of that high office, each of them will be fully, justly and energetically used to make every measure of relief to the people and reform in the government pointed out by your platform of principles realities of my administration.

—It is estimated that 6,000,000 bushels of peaches will be shipped from the Delaware and Maryland peninsula this summer. In the Delaware berry section it is predicted that 1,500,000 quarts will be marketed per day. It is predicted that 300,000 quarts of strawberries will reach Philadelphia per day from Delaware, but no fears of a glutted market are entertained.

and it danced about as a paper blown by the wind. She placed the palm of her hand on the top of a green hickory stick the size of a walking cane; several men held the lower part of the stick stationary and the splinters by the circular motion of the hand. There were other tests of a similar character. It has been but a short time since Miss Price discovered that she possessed this unknown power. She was born near Cartersville, Georgia, and is a modest, unassuming country girl, who has never been away from home until in company with her father and two neighbors named Conyes she started on the present tour. No claim is made that the manifestations are those of "spiritualism." The young lady and those who see her only know that she possesses this power and do not know what the power is.

Unprotected Girls.

Another serious defect has been discovered in our tariff. The American girl is not protected in the matrimonial market from the quite passable but cheaply produced foreign girl, and a number of American industries languish with her. A few days ago a resident of Winchester county, finding himself in need of a wife, deliberately went down to Castle Garden, to look for an acceptable mate. It did not happen to be a good day for girls, but his success has since been reported. It was to be expected, for many maidens who are comely and good enter the United States through Castle Garden, and aversion to matrimony is not among their peculiarities. Why did the suitor turn his back on his own country, where girls of every variety are as numerous as politicians? We do not know, but the special advantages of the Castle Garden plan are quite evident. A proposal to a young woman "caught on the fly," arriving one day and intending on the next to take a train to her family or friends in the West involves no preliminary expenses in the nature of bouquets, bonbons, theatre tickets, buggy rides, ice cream and excursions, and the consequent wedding does not imply either cards or cake. Besides, to revive a very old saying, the man who marries a Castle Garden girl does not have to hire a Castle Garden girl to take care of his wife. With all these odds against the American girl, it is strange that the tariff does not protect her. Why should foreign girls be admitted free of duty? Are they raw material? Not they! It may be urged that the tariff is for the protection of infant industries, of which the American girl is not one, but it certainly should not be hard to convince any calm and dispassionate mind that she is a direct product of one, the continuance of which is imperatively demanded for posterity's sake. In her fully completed condition—say at the age of 20 or 25 years—she embodies many times more expenditure and effort than the cheap labor products of European cradles. The foreign girl should be taken off the free list. Home industries demand it. Where is Mr. Randall?—[New York Herald.]

Speed of Thought.

Many people have noticed the remarkable quickness of thought in dreaming, how a long story, with many details and extending over a great period of time, will flash through the mind in a few minutes, but they seldom have any means of even approximately measuring the quickness with which they sometimes dream. There is now going the rounds of the press a story purporting to tell the dream of a railway engineer, which, if true, affords a means of measurement and the story itself has every appearance of being a genuine relation of experience. The engineer had been without sleep and on duty for many hours and at last fell asleep on his post. Then he dreamed quite an elaborate story of an accident resulting from a confusion of train orders; how he studied over the words of the dispatch, trying to make out their meaning, and then how his train coming into collision with another, he was thrown into the air and dropped back into his seat in the cab with his hand on the throttle. At that instant consciousness returned and he found that it was all a dream, and that although his train was traveling at the rate of 45 miles an hour, it had gone only 250 feet while the dream was passing through his mind, this distance being fixed by the position of the train with respect to signal lights on the line. This is the interesting part of the story, for if these measurements are approximately correct, the dream occupied less than four seconds of time.—[Ledger.]

Our Poor Relation.

And how mean it is in us to complain of the poor relation. I know he is often a sore trial to you, I know how he always happens to call on you just when you have your hands full of a swell dinner party for grander people and are wishing your relative at the bottom of the sea. I know how he browbeats his team under the shade trees before your front gate, I know how he tramps across the porch and in at the front door, carrying in one hand a pumpkin as large as the Mississippi valley and harder to break than the ten commandments are to keep, and in the other a pillow slip full of the garnishes, bitterest apples that ever harbored a colony of worms, indications that he is going to stay all week, if butter goes up to 95 cents per pound and yet you have no reason to feel harshly toward him. He doesn't do it on purpose. No man in this day and generation is poor for fun. I myself very narrowly escaped being a poor relation, hence I have a fraternal feeling for him. I possessed in an eminent degree all the ingredients of a boom for the office and I believe was elected by an overwhelming majority, but I couldn't qualify; I was too poor.—[Robert J. Burdette.]

Inquiring child—"Pa, what is the difference between sitting up and sitting down?" Pa (with perfect confidence in his ability to explain)—"Why, my child, when somebody is standing up and he seats himself he sits down; and when he doesn't go to bed, and sits down, he sits up." Inquiring child—"But, pa, if he sits how can he sit without sitting down; and if he sits down how can he sit up?" Pa (with a dawning doubt of his ability to make it quite clear)—"You see, my child, if he sits down, why he— I mean if he sits up, go to your ma and don't ask me questions when I'm busy."—[Boston Gazette.]

On the Pennsylvania Railway the average consumption of the fuel for all passenger trains is 50 pounds per train mile.

A Chapter on Boys.

Cain was the first boy, and all his education depended on his inexperienced parents. There were no other boys in the public to teach Cain how to lie, smoke, drink, fight, cheat and steal. There were no country relations upon whom little Cain could be indicted for two or three weeks, when his worried parents wanted a little rest. I don't wonder that Cain turned out bad. I always said he would. We all have our own boys to look after, as your neighbor has a boy you can look after much more closely than his mother can, and much more to your own satisfaction than to the boy's comfort. Your boy is like Adam's boy; he asks questions, and if there is any truth in the old theory of transmigration of souls, when a boy dies he will pass into an interrogation point. The older he grows the more questions he asks. The oldest boy I ever knew was fifty-seven years old, and I went to school to him, and he did ask the longest, hardest, crookedest questions that no boy could answer. And now your boy, ceasing to ask questions, begins to answer them, until you stand amazed at the breadth and depth of his knowledge. He wants to be a missionary—or a pirate. So far as he expresses any preference he would rather be a pirate, where there are more chances of making money and fewer of being devoured.

A sad story comes from Chillicothe, Mo. Two years ago Rev. R. Williams took charge of the Baptist church at Moberly. Everybody loved and revered him. He was quiet, and it is remembered that he never talked of his life before coming to Missouri. Recently the field of his labors has been changed from Moberly to Chillicothe, where he seems to have been rapidly winning his way to the hearts of his congregation. On Monday he received a visit from the deacons of his church, who informed him that they had heard that their minister, having another wife in the East, was liable at any moment to be indicted for bigamy. He acknowledged he had been married, that his wife had deserted him and he had heard of her death. He begged for time and said that he would on the next day make all plain or resign. The deacons left and Mr. Williams went for a walk. He did not return and a search was instituted. Towards morning he was found dead in a field with a bottle of prussic acid in one hand. He left no statement and his wife says she knows nothing of any previous marriage.

BETTER THAN THE "GOOD OLD TIMES."—The train called the congressional, which leaves Washington at 4 p. m. and in six hours lands the passengers on the New York side of the river, reminds me of the time before "monopolies," when the same railroad under four ownerships knocked me around all day, spoiled my clothes, and kept a man to wake me up every time I dozed, to see if I had a ticket, threw me into omnibuses, haltered me like an ox for dinner, and called its ferryboats such names as "State's Rights," "State's Rights," then meant Chairman Livingston's kind, which declared the tidal waters of New York state and New Jersey the property of those states and then sold them in the legislature to two or three individuals. We have now on one railroad nine daily trains to and from Washington.—[Cath.]

Most of our business men can remember when every financial disaster made it necessary to scrutinize every bank bill offered in trade, and to keep the run of the discount to be made from the issues of each bank or section. The Eastern men traveling in the West would get loaded up with Western money and have to go to a broker and change it into gold at a loss of from 20 to 50 per cent. before he could buy a ticket home. Debts between different localities were at sixes and sevens; the debtor class, of course, had to submit to its loss from the poorer currency.—[Springfield Republican.]

An old clergyman, a helpless cripple and poor, some years ago lent money to a poor student of one of the largest New England colleges to help him through his course, taking a note endorsed by a near relative. The boy died, and the relative refused to pay. He is an eminent Christian in his town, and for many years has professed entire sanctification. The clergyman writes to the Independent for advice and is told to invoke the law to compel the endorser of the note to pay the whole debt.

Woman rips up all the carpets, opens all the windows, sets a pail of hot water and a bar of soap in the middle of the floor ties up her head in an old apron and forgets all about cooking the dinner.

Man goes home, sees the carpets on the line, doesn't smell any dinner, gets mad and goes back to the office with an empty stomach.

This seems to be about all there is of value in house-clearing.—[Hartford Post.]

The democracy can not abandon the cause of revenue reform if it would and it would not if it could. It is bound to that by its platform, by its tradition, by its obligations to the laboring men of the country, and by the manhood which can afford defeat, but will on no terms submit to the dictation of a treacherous clique.—[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Every child should be taught to pay all his debts, and to fulfill all his contracts, exactly in manner, completely in value, punctually at the time. Everything he has borrowed he should be obliged to return uninjured at the time specified, and everything belonging to others which he has lost he should be required to replace.—[Dwight.]

Growing Pumpkins With Corn.

Pumpkins are valuable for stock in autumn and early winter, or as long as they can be conveniently kept, though the amount of nutriment, in proportion to bulk to be taken care of, and their liability to decay, have led most farmers to discard them and adopt roots or squashes for succulent food. As a rule, every crop needs all the ground it occupies and all the air and sunlight available. Corn is a "sun plant" and to shade the soil and lower stalks with the dense foliage of pumpkin vines, must be more or less injurious, even if the latter do not rob the former of any needed nutriment. On very fertile, new soils, with short stalked varieties of corn, in localities where frost is not to be feared, it may be allowable to plant pumpkin seed at the second hoeing in every third or fourth hill, in each second or third row. With favorable weather the corn will produce about the usual yield and after the early gathering of the corn, the growing pumpkins thus exposed to full sunlight will ripen up those pretty well developed. As a rule, let the pumpkins have the whole ground; but still better are harder fleeced squashes, which will probably supply more nutriment than field pumpkins, whether for man or beast.—[American Agriculturist.]

THE "BLACK HOLE" OF CALCUTTA.—The reader is familiar with the story of the Black Hole outrage, or can at least look it up in any comprehensive English history. It may be of interest, however, to state that all traces of this tragedy are now covered up, so that the scene where it was enacted is the heart now of this busy metropolitan city; so complete has been the triumph of western civilization. The postoffice is a huge building, surmounted with a splendid dome, and the other buildings that mark the site of the old fort are lofty and substantial structures. Dalhousie square opposite, where the ravelin once held its horrid, ghastly victims, is now one of the fairest spots in Calcutta, where every evening men and women walk or play lawn tennis upon the green sward.—[Inter-Ocean.]

SLOW TO LEARN.—"Johnnie," said an Oil City girl to her bashful company, as they occupied remote ends of the sofa at the other night, "I see by the papers that a lady in New Jersey, 104 years old, boasts of having been kissed by Washington."

"Yes," said Johnnie, "I saw it too."

"Suppose you were to become a great man like Washington?"

"Well," said Johnnie.

"And I was to live to be 104 years old."

"Well," said Johnnie.

"I couldn't say of you what the old lady said of Washington, could I?"

Then he kissed her.—[Oil City Derrick.]

ANOTHER MANIA.—The smelling bottle craze has been a very fashionable one with young girls in Washington in the past few months. It is a costly fashion. One belle now has her second bottle presented with this month, each of which cost $60. The first was crushed under her carriage wheel in coming from a party one night, and its gold top with her initials on it alone escaped destruction. Another young lady carries one at least a foot in length, and being of very thick cutglass it is particularly ponderous. A bottle of this kind, even of moderate size, costs $40.—[Harper's Bazar.]

Oscar Turner's declination to submit to a primary election unless he is permitted to name the day is characteristic. He is a cold, selfish, unpatriotic man who never had the interest of the party at heart. If there were two other men in the district who were as dogmatic and stubborn, the district would be represented by a republican. Turner's object in demanding that the primary be held on August election day is to give the republicans and Green backers, who have always elected him, a chance to help him out.—[Owensboro Messenger.]
